

Honors Program Curriculum

Senior Project
(4 credits)

HONORS CLASSES
(4 courses, 3 credits each)

Honors 373
Scholarship of Creativity
Honor students shall be able to demonstrate creative abilities and appreciation for that which is enriching to our society, using eloquent communication skills

Honors 372
Scholarship of Critical Thinking & Evidence Based Practice
Honor students shall be able to demonstrate required critical thinking skills necessary to make decisions about practical applications, using articulate and persuasive communication skills.

Honors 371
Scholarship of Logic and Problem Solving
Honor students shall be able to demonstrate proficient use of logic through solving case studies and using effective written, verbal, and nonverbal communication skills.

Honors 370
Scholarship of Diversity
Honor students shall be able to demonstrate an appreciation of diversity through an awareness of own biases and prejudices and an acceptance of differences, using active listening and honest communication skills.

BIANNUAL MANDATORY MEETINGS (Fall & Spring Semesters)

	Freshman	Sophomore	Junior	Senior
Fall Semester	Introduction to Honor's Program	An effective consumer of scholarly work	Quantitative Research (IRB process)	Critique of report & presentation
Spring Semester	Attendance at SSC, followed by Introduction to Proposal	Literature Review & exploration of data bases	Qualitative Research	Presentation at SSC event (April 7, 2009)