Emergency

In the United States, people dial 9-1-1 in case of an emergency. You should dial 9-1-1 for emergencies such as fires or car accidents. If you dial 9-1-1 from any telephone, always identify the city and state you are calling from and your call will be sent directly to an emergency dispatcher. The dispatcher will send officers to your location immediately. The dispatcher will ask you the following types of questions.

Dispatcher: “9-1-1...What is your emergency?”

Dispatcher: “What is your address?”

Dispatcher: “What is the state of the injured person? Is the person conscious? Is the person breathing?”

Dispatcher: “Would you please stay on this line until officers arrive?”

Try to stay on the telephone until officers arrive. If you are in danger, report this to the dispatcher and leave the area immediately.

9-1-1 is to be used for emergencies only. It is against the law to dial 9-1-1 if there is no emergency!

If you use a University-owned telephone to dial 9-1-1, University Police/Security will send an officer to your location immediately.

911 will never call you demanding money. If you receive a phone call like this do not pay money and simply say, “No thank you” and immediately hang up. If you are unsure about a call or letter you can always come to the International Admissions and Services office.

University Security

The Office of Safety and Emergency Management is located on the first floor of Lovett Hall. Lovett Hall is located on the southwest corner of Frazer Street and North Cory Street on the Main Campus.

The Office of Safety and Emergency Management provides the following services:

Code Blue Emergency Phones

If you have an emergency, use the “Red Push for Help” button on the blue light units. This will automatically send a call to the security office. A flashing blue light will accompany your call.

Security Escorts

Security escorts are available to anyone who calls 419-434-4799.

Personal Safety and Crime Prevention

Personal Safety and Crime Prevention

Personal safety is increased by following common sense guidelines which limit or reduce the possibility of becoming a victim of crime. Ninety percent of campus crimes are crimes of opportunity.

On-Campus Housing Facilities:

1. Always lock the door to your room - day and night.
2. Don't let strangers, or someone with whom you are not well acquainted, into the building or your room.
3. Don't lend your keys to anyone.
4. Don't prop open the exterior doors of the residence halls. They are locked for your safety.
5. Engrave your valuable possessions with identifying information or leave things of great monetary or sentimental value at home.
6. Don't leave your books, backpack or purse unattended.
7. Know where to find residence life staff, phones or other safe areas.
8. Report any suspicious person or activity to residence life staff or University Police/Security. If you are a victim of crime, call Campus Security immediately. They can assist you.

On Campus and Other Places:

1. At all times, be aware of your surroundings and of people approaching or following you.
2. Don't go out at night alone. Always go with a friend, a group or call for Campus Security to assist (x4799).
3. Use well-lit, public walkways. Avoid shortcuts that take you through dark or secluded places.
4. Know the locations of campus and public telephones.
5. Always lock your bike to a secure object. A U-shaped lock is best.
6. Always lock your car and keep valuables out of sight. Lock your case of CDs in the trunk.
7. Never leave your keys or your purse/wallet in your car while it is unattended, even for a few moments.
8. Never hitchhike, pick up hitchhikers or ride alone with someone you do not know well.
9. Never drink and drive or ride with someone who has been drinking.
10. Report suspicious or criminal activity to the Office of Safety and Emergency Management. If you are off campus, call the local police.
11. If you are a victim of a crime, call the Office of Safety and Emergency Management immediately, or if off campus, call the local police.

Tornado Warning

When the siren is sounding or tornado is visually observed:

1. Go to an interior hallway on a lower floor, preferably a basement, and sit down.
2. Please close residence hall doors on your way out of the room. Take your room key with you.
3. Stay away from windows and doors.
4. Avoid auditoriums with large, unsupported roof areas and high walls.
5. Take cover under heavy furniture in the center of the building if there is no basement.
6. Cover head with available cushioning or with arms.

Inclement Weather

During periods of inclement weather, the University of Findlay considers the safety of its employees and students of utmost importance.

During inclement weather, information on the status of University operations will be posted to the University website at www.findlay.edu/offices/student/safetysecurity/Pages/Campus-Alerts/Weather-Related-Information.aspx.

The chart below describes the University policy in relation to city/county snow emergency classifications.

Weather Condition Classification by Public Agencies, such as County Sheriff's Office

Level	Description	University Plans and Operations
Level 1 Alert	Roadways are hazardous, drive with extreme caution.	Classes will be held and offices will be open to provide services.
Level 2 Advisory	Roadways are extremely hazardous with blowing and drifting snow and/or flooding. Only those who feel it is necessary to travel should be on the roadways.	Classes will be held and offices will be open to provide services.
Level 3 Emergency	Most roadways are closed and extremely hazardous/flooded. Violators may be cited.	The University of Findlay's President or designee will assess the situation and determine whether classes will be canceled and offices closed.

Sexual Assault Information

What is Sexual Assault?

Sexual assault is an umbrella term used to describe a wide range of forced and unwanted sexual activity, including kissing, exhibitionism, groping, and rape. Victims might be coerced into sexual acts through verbal or non-verbal threats or through the use of substances, such as alcohol or drugs. Sexual assault doesn't always involve physical contact – acts such as voyeurism and exhibitionism can still count as unwanted sexual attention.

Many victims know their assailant or rapist. Approximately two out of three sexual assaults are committed by an attacker that the victim knows. About 38 percent of rape incidents are committed by a friend or acquaintance of the victim. One in five women are victims of completed or attempted sexual assault while in college.

What is Consent?

Consent must be informed (the person being acted upon knows what is happening) and mutual (both parties have input and both want to participate in a given sexual act.)

Consent is not implied, it should be a verbal voluntary, positive agreement between the participants to engage in specific sexual activity. Talk to your partner about what is comfortable for him or her every step of the way. Pay attention to both verbal and non-verbal communication - the absence of a "no" does not imply consent, nor does a prior sexual relationship. A person who is asleep or mentally or physically incapacitated by drugs or alcohol cannot give consent.

If you are sexually assaulted:

- Get to a safe place away from your perpetrator as soon as possible.
- Call your local rape crisis center or victim service agency if you would like to obtain an advocate. Advocates may be present during any medical, police, or legal meeting. Advocates can help you navigate the medical and criminal justice systems as well as provide information and support.
- Seek medical attention – even if no outward injuries exist, it is recommended that individuals are examined by a medical professional. Forensic exams are done by specially trained nurses on campus or in the emergency room and are free for victims of sexual assault. (They do not have to go through the victim's insurance.) Exams may preserve crucial evidence should you choose to report, though reporting to police is not necessary in order to have an exam completed. You can further preserve evidence by not bathing, washing your hands, eating, or smoking until the forensic exam has been completed.
- Utilize resources for support such as counseling services or campus ministries.
- Consider reporting to the police and/or Office of Safety and Emergency Management.

- To work with police, campus officials, and the prosecutor

After an Assault: Recovery

- Survivors often struggle with resuming their normal daily activities in the aftermath of a sexual assault. Work with physicians, counselors, and instructors to get the support needed to heal. Even after physical wounds heal, survivors suffer the risk of chronic emotional distress. Compared to other victims, rape survivors are 6.2 times more likely to develop PTSD, 3 times more likely to have a major depressive episode, 26 times more likely to abuse drugs, and 13 times more likely to abuse alcohol.

Common Physical Aftereffects

- Jitteriness (someone who feels nervous or tense)
- Disrupted sleep patterns
- Muscle cramps or spasms
- No libido
- Aching at injury sites

Common Emotional Aftereffects

- Anxiety
- Self-blame or guilt
- Rage
- Helplessness
- Emotional outbursts
- Constant worry

Common Mental Aftereffects

- Inability to concentrate
- Depression
- Denial
- PTSD (Post Traumatic Stress Disorder)
- Suicidal ideation

Due to the seriousness of trauma that often comes with the fallout of an attack, it is extremely important for victims of sexual abuse to get professional help. You might not feel like you need counseling, however the emotional and mental aftereffects can suddenly catch up with you, especially during periods of high stress in your life as a student. There are many support systems in place to help you through this difficult period.

Increasing Safety for Yourself and Others

- Make a plan. If you're going to a party, go with people you trust. Be a good friend. Agree to watch out for each other and plan to leave together. If your plans change, make sure to touch base with the other people in your group. Don't leave someone stranded in an unfamiliar or unsafe setting.
- Protect your drink. Don't leave your drink unattended, and watch out for your friends' drinks if you can. If you go to the bathroom or step outside, take the drink with you or toss it out. Drink from unopened containers or drinks you watched being made and poured. It's not always possible to know if something has been added to someone's drink. In drug-facilitated sexual assault, a perpetrator could use a substance that has no color, taste, or odor.
- Know your limits. Keep track of how many drinks you've had, and be aware of your friends' behavior. If one of you feels extremely tired or more drunk than you should, you may have been drugged. Leave the party or situation and find help immediately.
- It's okay to lie. If you want to exit a situation immediately and are concerned about frightening or upsetting someone, it's okay to lie. You are never obligated to remain in a situation that makes you feel uncomfortable, pressured, or threatened. You can also lie to help a friend leave a situation that you think may be dangerous. Some excuses you could use are needing to take care of another friend or family member, an urgent phone call, not feeling well, and having to be somewhere else by a certain time.
- Trust your instincts. If you notice something that doesn't feel right, it probably isn't.
- Know your resources. Who should you contact if you or a friend needs help? Where should you go? Locate resources such as the campus health center, campus police station, and a local sexual assault service provider. Notice where emergency phones are located on campus, and program the campus security number into your cell phone for easy access.
- Stay alert. When you're moving around on campus or in the surrounding neighborhood, be aware of your surroundings. Consider inviting a friend to join you or asking campus security for an escort. If you're alone, only use headphones in one ear to stay aware of your surroundings.
- Be careful about posting your location. Many social media sites, like Facebook and Foursquare, use geolocation to publicly share your location. Consider disabling this function and reviewing other social media settings.
- Make others earn your trust. A college environment can foster a false sense of security. They may feel like fast friends, but give people time to earn your trust before relying on them.
- Think about Plan B. Spend some time thinking about back-up plans for potentially sticky situations. If your phone dies, do you have a few numbers memorized to get help? Do you have emergency cash in case you can't use a credit card? Do you have the address to your dorm or college memorized? If you drive, is there a spare key hidden, gas in your car, and a set of jumper cables?

- Be secure. Lock your door and windows when you're asleep and when you leave the room. If people constantly prop open the main door to the dorm or apartment, tell security or a trusted authority figure.

What to Do if Someone I Know Is Sexually Assaulted

If someone you know is victimized, his or her reactions can vary. He or she might be angry, sad, or afraid. He or she might respond in ways that seem unusual to you – for example, your friend might laugh at seemingly inappropriate times or appear to have no reaction at all. In most cases of campus sexual assault, the victim is hurt by someone he or she knows or trusts and processing complicated emotions following an assault and deciding what he or she wants to do moving forward can take time. Here are some things you can do if someone discloses an assault to you:

- If you saw the attacker or witnessed any part of the assault, take detailed notes regarding the incident.
- Accompany the victim to the hospital and ensure they meet with medical professionals who specialize in sexual assault trauma.
- Listen. If someone discloses an assault to you, it means he/she trusts you enough to share this incredibly difficult story. Just listening with compassion can be incredibly helpful.
- Believe. Rather than asking a lot of questions, just let your friend know that you believe him/her and will support him/her as best as you can.
- Give options. Sexual assault is a crime of power and control. In order to give a sense of control back to your friend, allow him/her to carefully choose what option is best. He/she may not make the same decision you might make; however, only the victim can decide what a healthy process is for him/her. You can help them explore their options by suggesting available resources – medical, legal, on-campus, off-campus, friends, family, counselors, or any other support you can think of.

Take care of yourself. Hearing about an assault can be difficult, particularly when the victimization occurred to someone you care about. It is important that while you are supporting a friend, you are also taking care of your own physical and mental health.

Your Response Matters

Don't worry about being perfect, but do recognize the importance of your role. Again, if someone discloses to you, it means they trust you enough to share this information with you. Be present and listen to what is being said and consider what you can do to support your friend. Sometimes your friend might not want to talk; sitting in silence can be just as powerful. Avoid asking questions like "Why did you go with him?" or "Did you fight back?" Questioning your friend's behaviors could make him or her feel as though the victimization was his or her fault, even though it wasn't and even if that's not your intent. Focus on offering your friend support and providing options so he or she can decide what is best.

Registration

Approximately eight weeks into the semester, the Office of the Registrar sends registration materials to enrolled students. Students are issued a registration date based on their cumulative earned hours. Seniors register first to ensure that courses required for graduation are available to them. Registration is handled by the faculty adviser and runs for approximately 22 working days. Students are permitted to register via the adviser on or after their assigned registration date. New students must be accepted first through the Office of Admissions before meeting with their faculty adviser. Students with an outstanding balance will not be permitted to register.

Change of Schedule

Adjustments (add/drops) to schedules are completed by a student, by a faculty adviser, or by a member of the Oiler Success Center when the faculty adviser is unavailable. Adding a course, dropping a course, or changing from one section of the same course constitutes a change of schedule. Students may not add a course or change sections after the fifth class day of the standard 16-week semester without also receiving written permission from the instructor. For classes that are shorter than 16 weeks, a student will not be able to add a course or change from one section to another section of the same course after the third class day without receiving written permission from the instructor. Courses that are dropped by a student on or before the sixth day in a standard 16-week semester or on or before the third day for a short course will not appear on the student's transcript. Any courses dropped after the periods stated previously, but before the last day to withdraw, will be shown on the transcript as a W. If schedule changes are not handled within the stated time limits, students are subject to receive a failing grade in the courses for which they are officially enrolled. Students will not receive credit for courses attended without official registration.

Withdrawal from Selected Courses

Withdrawals made after the first six days but within the first 50 days of a semester are recorded as non-punitive W on a transcript. Students may petition for withdrawal after the first 50 days. If the petition is denied and students fail to complete the semester, they will receive F grades for unfinished courses. The Student Academic Standards Committee reviews all petitions for withdrawal made after the first 50 days. If a student leaves a course without following withdrawal procedures, he/she automatically receives an F grade. Courses that meet for only a portion of the semester (e.g., first or second half HPE activities) can be withdrawn from only up to midpoint of the duration of that course.

When a student has violated University rules, regulations, or policies of an academic nature the student will not be permitted to withdraw from the course.

Withdrawal from the University

When a student withdraws from all classes during a semester, it is the University's responsibility to assign an official withdrawal date. For a student withdrawing while regularly attending classes, the withdrawal date is the date that the student notifies the Oiler Success Center of his/her intent to withdraw and/or begins the withdrawal process by completing a withdrawal form. If a student ceases attending classes without notice, the withdrawal date will be the student's last date of attendance or participation in a course-related activity, as documented by his/her University instructors.

Students wishing to withdraw from the University must follow the current withdrawal procedures. To withdraw from the University of Findlay, students must obtain a withdrawal form in The Oiler Success Center. This form must be completed along with an exit interview when the necessary signatures are obtained. Students who do not go through this formal withdrawal process may be charged a significant amount of money for tuition, fees and other costs. Once the session has started, the student is only eligible for a partial refund of tuition. Fees are non-refundable. Failure to attend class(es) does not constitute an official drop or withdrawal.

Immigration Reminder: Withdrawing from the University can cause you to lose your visa status. Please check with International Admissions before withdrawing from your classes.

Medical Withdrawal

A. Appropriate action may be implemented when there is clear and convincing evidence that certain physical, psychological, or emotional health conditions interfere with the student's ability to function effectively in the academic environment. Essentially, a medical withdrawal acknowledges that the student's condition prevented her/him from completing current semester academic responsibilities. The severity and duration of the problem must be such that it should be unreasonable to expect the student to make up for missed class work.

B. When the health of a student is assumed to be as defined in paragraph (A) above, the Medical Withdrawal Committee consisting of the director of financial aid, director of the Oiler Success Center, director of Counseling Services and/or director of Health Services, registrar, accounts receivable manager, and the chair of the department in which the student's major resides will review the case; including any medical evidence or opinion available, and determine a recommended University action. The recommendation of the Medical Withdrawal Committee will be forwarded to the vice president for Academic Affairs and the vice president for Business Affairs for a final decision.

C. A medical withdrawal, if granted, may include the following:

1. A student being withdrawn from all course work (whether passing or failing). The student's transcript for the semester would indicate "withdrawn for medical reasons." The specific nature of the medical withdrawal is not indicated in order to protect the student's confidentiality. Under this circumstance, there will be a hold placed on the student's account for future registration until the student provides documentation to the Director of the Oiler Success Center that his/her medical condition has improved.

2. Classes, of the semester in question, would be withdrawn with the date proposed by the Committee. If Title IV funds are involved there would be a recalculation of these funds.

D. The decision to accept or deny a student's request for a medical withdrawal, once rendered by the vice president for Academic Affairs and the Vice President for Business Affairs will be sent to the student by the director of the Oiler Success Center.

Immigration Reminder: If you need to reduce your course load due to a medical condition, please talk to International Admissions. We can authorize a reduced course load in SEVIS to maintain your status if you have a written note from your medical doctor.

Reduction in Number of Credit Hours

It is the student's responsibility to contact his/her adviser or the Office of the Registrar and OFFICIALLY drop the class(es) before the start of the session in order to receive a 100 percent refund. Once the session has started, the student is only eligible for a partial refund of tuition. Fees are non-refundable. Undergraduate students who add/drop class(es) but remain between 12-18 hours will not be entitled to a refund. Students should always retain a copy of all transactions related to adding or withdrawing from classes. Failure to attend class(es) does not constitute an official drop or withdrawal. It is recommended that a student drop and add courses of equal credit hours within the same business day.

Because there are many alternate calendars among the academic programs, it is the student's responsibility to contact the Business Office at 419-434-4690 or businessoffice@findlay.edu for dates and refund percentages not specifically listed within the Tuition Refund Policy.

Immigration Reminder: Reducing your course load can cause you to lose your immigration status. Please talk to International Admissions before reducing your course load below full time.

Tuition Refund Policy

In the case of students who reduce their number of credit hours or completely withdraw from all course work and do not receive Federal Title IV or state funds, the tuition is refunded on the following basis: (Calendar week is defined as Sunday through Saturday.)

Fall or Spring Semester (enrollment period 15 weeks)

During the first calendar week of the semester	99%
During the second calendar week	50%
During the third and fourth calendar week	25%
After the fourth calendar week	0%

Weekend College (enrollment period 11-12 weeks)

Within five days of the first class	99%
Day six through second weekend	50%
After second weekend	0%

Because there are many alternate calendars among the academic programs, it is the student's responsibility to contact the Business Office at 419-434-4690 or businessoffice@findlay.edu for dates and refund percentages.

The cumulative grade point average is based only on grades earned at the University of Findlay.

Graduation and Records

Declaration of Candidacy for a Degree

To graduate, a student must declare his/her intention to graduate and show the approval of the faculty adviser by completing an application for graduation and turning it in to the Office of the Registrar. This application is available in the Office of the Registrar and should be submitted six months prior to the expected graduation date. It is highly recommended, however, that this application be turned in prior to the end of the second semester of the junior year.

If a student's application for graduation does not accurately reflect the degree earned, the institution reserves the right to declare a student a candidate for a degree under one of the following three circumstances:

1. A student applied for graduation but failed to meet all major and/or minor requirements listed on the application. The institution reserves the right to adjust a student's application and award a degree for the major(s) and/or minor(s) earned six months after a student's last enrollment. Therefore, dropping the unearned major and/or minor from the student's application and awarding the degree based on at least one completed major.
2. A student applied for graduation but failed to meet all major and/or minor requirements listed on the application. The institution reserves the right to adjust a student's application and award a lesser degree two years after a student's last enrollment. Therefore, a student who has failed to meet the requirements of a bachelor's degree may be awarded an associate's degree if all associate degree requirements have been satisfied.
3. A student who has not applied for graduation but has satisfied all degree requirements may be awarded the degree one year after a student's last enrollment. Therefore, the institution reserves the right to declare a student a candidate for a degree and award the earned degree even if the student has failed to declare candidacy.

Commencement Ceremony

The University of Findlay has one commencement ceremony each year, at the end of spring semester in May. Students who have completed all degree requirements; who are in the process of completing all degree requirements, or those who are within two courses of completing their degree program, have a 2.00 cumulative grade point average, and have registered for Findlay classes in the following semester in order to complete their degree may participate in the scheduled commencement ceremony.

Students who complete an application for graduation will be automatically assigned to participate in the first commencement ceremony that follows the semester in which their degree requirements are projected to be completed. Students are eligible to participate only in their assigned commencement ceremony.

Graduation with Honors

Academic honors will be awarded based on the following cumulative grade point averages:

3.60 Cum Laude

3.75 Magna Cum Laude

3.90 Summa Cum Laude

To qualify for honors, a student must have attended the University of Findlay for a minimum of 50 semester hours of graded course work. (A minimum of 40 semester hours is acceptable for those students transferring with a previous cumulative GPA of 3.60 or high

Transcript

A transcript is an academic record and will include only information of an academic nature. Disciplinary action is not recorded on the academic record.

Students must satisfactorily settle all financial obligations to the University before transcripts are released or diplomas awarded.

Requests to have academic transcripts sent to a third party must be in writing and must include the student's signature. Under no circumstances will a transcript or a copy of a transcript of work taken at another institution be released by the University of Findlay. Students should contact each school attended for copies of official records at that institution. A fee is charged for each official transcript.

How to Get Your Ohio Driver's License

If you are interested in getting your Ohio driver's license you may go to the Ohio License Bureau at 8210 County Road 140 in Findlay and pick up the Motor Vehicle Laws booklet. You will need this to learn the Ohio motor vehicle regulations and traffic signs.

Temporary Permit

An applicant may go to any driver exam station to take the knowledge and vision screening to begin the temporary permit process. Prior to testing, applicants must provide proof of: full legal name, date of birth, and Social Security number (if assigned).

Once the knowledge test and vision screening are passed, the applicant can proceed to a deputy registrar license agency to purchase a TIPIC within 60 days of passing the test.

Test Failure

Applicants who fail the knowledge test must wait at least 24 hours before retesting. There is no limit on how many times the knowledge test can be taken.

TIPIC Restrictions

- Once a driver is issued a TIPIC, he or she can practice driving only if accompanied by a licensed driver age 21 or older

A non-renewable/non-transferable Ohio driver license or ID card will be issued with the same expiration date as the document issued by USCIS or four years, whichever is sooner (regardless of federal grace periods extending the expiration date).

A non-renewable/non-transferable Ohio driver license allows an individual to drive in Ohio and other states, but cannot be renewed in Ohio or transferred to another state.

Applicants must present current USCIS documents and proof of Ohio residency at each ID card or license issuance. Common acceptable documents used for proof of legal presence:

- Attending school: valid passport, visa, I-94, DS2019 or I-20 and proof of Social Security number (if ever assigned)
- Employment: valid Employment Authorization Card (EAD) and proof of Social Security number (if ever assigned) OR valid passport, visa, I-94, I-797 with acceptable employment case type and a letter from employer on letterhead dated within last 60 days and proof of Social Security number (if ever assigned)

How to Buy a Vehicle

Types of Used Cars

There are plenty of used cars for purchase, and several ways to generally categorize them. When you begin your shopping process, consider these options:

- Certified pre-owned (CPO) vehicles—The purpose of CPO programs is to alleviate concerns about the condition of a non-new vehicle. Still, the inspections, repairs, and warranties involved in each program vary greatly.
- “Second tier” vehicles—These cars may not be the biggest sellers on the lot, but can still be reliable—and much cheaper—regardless of their less-popular manufacturers.

Shop for a Used Car

Online Forums

If you love to do research or have a decent amount of car-related knowledge, you may have good luck looking for a used car on websites like Craigslist.

Peer-to-peer car buying and selling websites are another option. These sites essentially act as a middleman between buyer and seller. The process is similar to using Craigslist, but sales are typically more regulated by the website.

There are other less active online options, as well. Many websites will offer used car listings, which will allow you to search for vehicles based on factors like:

- Car mileage
- Make
- Model
- Proximity to you

In Person

Of course, there are other ways to track down used cars for sale, including:

- Used car lots
- Used car sections of a dealership
- Newspaper or magazine classified ads

Negotiating Used Car Prices

Your number one ally at the negotiation table is information. Make sure you have a solid idea of the vehicle's general value, including:

- The Blue Book value. The Kelley Blue Book is one of the most common references for used car values.
- Prices of vehicles with similar:
 - Makes
 - Model years
 - Miles

The specific price of the car will depend on other variables, like the condition the car is in and the vehicle's history.

Buying from Dealers

There may be several different factors in play when you purchase a used car from a lot or dealership, as opposed to a personal sale. Dealers usually have more information about and experience in vehicle sales and will typically stick to a bottom line.

Dealerships will usually also consider other elements when in negotiations with you, such as:

- A trade-in car, if you have one
- Down payments vs. monthly payments
- Auto warranties

Paperwork Required to Buy a Car in Ohio

When buying a car in Ohio, you will need to ensure the seller provides you with certain documents in order to get the car signed over to you and registered in your name with the Ohio Bureau of Motor Vehicles (BMV).

If you buy a car from a dealership, they'll usually handle this paperwork for you.

Title Paperwork for Ohio Car Buyers

You'll need several documents from the seller to transfer ownership to you and get the car registered. Be sure the seller gives you:

- The vehicle title, which must:
 - Be signed by all owners listed on the title
 - Notarized
 - List the purchase price of the vehicle. If it doesn't, you'll need a bill of sale instead
- The Odometer Disclosure Statement (Form BMV 3724)
- A bill of sale IF:
 - You buy the car from a dealer
OR
 - You buy the car from a private seller AND the purchase price is NOT listed on the title certificate.

You must take the title to your Ohio county clerk's office to have it titled within 30 days from the date of purchase. The title fee is $15, and you'll have to pay sales tax on the vehicle purchase price.

Ohio Vehicle Registration Paperwork

Once the vehicle is correctly titled, you can transfer your registration and license plates or apply for a new vehicle registration in person at your local Ohio BMV office.

You will need the following documents:

- Vehicle title
- Odometer Disclosure Statement (Form BMV 3724)
- Bill of sale, if applicable
- Registration fees:
 - $34.50 for a passenger car
 - Fees vary for trucks, motorcycles, and other vehicles.

Transfer fee is $4.50 if you are transferring car registration and license

Parking on Campus

All registered students are permitted to have a car on campus. Cars must have a parking permit hanger. In order to obtain a parking permit hanger, students should go online to <http://www.myfindlay.edu/ics> and log in using their e-mail user name and password. Click on the UF INTRANET tab. Next, click on ONLINE PARKING PERMIT REGISTRATION. Complete the form accurately and then click SUBMIT. Students can then pick up their parking permit hanger at the security office during the first week of classes. Students should display the parking permit hanger on the rear view mirror of their car.

All University parking lots are striped by color. Yellow striped spaces are reserved for faculty and staff. Green striped spaces are reserved for commuters. White striped spaces are reserved for resident student parking.

Visit <https://www.findlay.edu/offices/student/safetysecurity/> for more information on parking on campus, bicycles/personal transportation, and visitor parking.

Regarding On-campus Jobs

What types of campus jobs are available?

On-campus opportunities include a variety of positions in almost every department, administrative office and auxiliary area. Positions include clerical assistants, faculty assistants, grounds keeping staff, tutors, food service workers, lab assistants, housekeeping staff, barn and farm workers, note takers, library assistants, athletic assistants, University ambassadors, technology assistants, and security workers just to name a few.

What do campus jobs pay?

Most on-campus jobs pay the State of Ohio minimum wage. A limited number of jobs that require specialized skills or greater responsibility may have a beginning pay which is slightly higher.

I am a student studying here on an F-1 Visa. Do I have any restrictions for working on campus?

Students studying here on an F-1 Visa may not work more than a total of 20 hours per week during the academic term. This is a combined total if more than one job is worked. A work-week is defined as Sunday-Saturday. During official break periods of the University, F-1 students may work up to 40 hours per week, but never more than 40 hours. Official break periods are defined as the winter break starting in mid-December and lasting until the beginning of spring semester in January; the one week of spring break which is usually in early March; and summer which begins when the spring semester ends in early May until fall semester begins approximately the third week of August.

Finding On-Campus Employment

Q: Will I be assigned a job upon beginning classes?

A: No. It is the student's responsibility to complete an application on the Student Employment C.A.$H. Network. The C.A.$H. Network is located on the Student Intranet accessed through "MyFindlay". Once the application is processed by the Student Employment Office, the student must apply for specific jobs posted on the C.A.$H. Network. Supervisors review the job applications they receive and make their selections.

Q: How do I find a work-study position or other part-time job?

A: The Student Employment C.A.$H. Network contains an online database of available part-time on- and off-campus positions. You may access these postings and the C.A.$H. Network through the Student Intranet located on "MyFindlay". The Student Employment Office also hosts job fairs for students seeking on- and off-campus part-time employment. Watch the student employment web site, Blackboard, campus bulletin boards, campus TV, and your email for information on upcoming job fairs.

Q: How soon can I apply for a Fall on-campus position?

A: Fall semester positions begin to post on Aug. 1. At that time, students may visit the C.A.$H. Network to complete an application, and begin to apply for posted positions.

Q: How long will it take for me to get a job?

A: That is something that cannot be predicted. Keep in mind, the more jobs you are willing to apply for, the greater your chances of quickly securing a job. Keep your application current and include all work or volunteer experience. Double check all spelling and grammar – it does make a difference! It is important that you remain diligent in your job search. Check the C.A.$H. Network frequently - every two to three days - for newly added positions and continue to apply for new positions until you secure a job.

Q: I'm not sure I want to work first semester. Does this mean I won't be able to get a job until next year?

A: Some students may wish to get accustomed to campus life before making a commitment to working on campus. The largest number of on-campus openings does occur at the beginning of and early in the fall semester, however, jobs will post throughout the year as departments' needs change and students graduate or leave positions. Therefore, there is opportunity to find jobs all during the year.

Q: If I chose to wait until second semester, when should I apply for on-campus jobs?

A: Positions posted at the beginning of the fall semester will require immediate occupancy. Therefore, if you are not interested in working until second semester, it is best to wait until mid-October to submit your application, search for open positions, and apply to these positions. Positions for second semester usually begin posting late October/early November and will continue posting into second semester.

Q: How soon will I know if I am selected for a job?

A: Each department has their own timeline for reviewing applications and hiring students. Departments will contact students using the contact information listed in the application. Make sure to check your UF email account daily. If a job is still posted, the department has not completed the hiring process.

How to Get Your Social Security Card

A Social Security Number (SSN) is a unique, 9-digit number for taxpayer identification, income reporting and record keeping purposes. Social Security numbers are assigned to people who are authorized to work in the United States. The Social Security Administration (SSA) issues the SSN. In Findlay, the SSA is located at 1720 E. Melrose Ave.

If the University of Findlay has authorized you to work either on or off campus, and you meet Social Security's eligibility requirements then you can get a Social Security number.

For on-campus employment:

To apply for a Social Security number you need to do the following:

- Secure employment
- Pick up the Social Security Employment Verification form from the International Admissions office and have completed by supervisor
- Complete an Application For A Social Security Card Form SS-5 (from the International Admissions office); and
- Show your original documents (detailed below) proving your:
 - Immigration status;
 - Work eligibility;
 - Age; and
 - Identity.
- Take your completed forms and original documents to the local SSA office.

For off-campus employment such as CPT or OPT:

To apply for a Social Security number you need to do the following:

- Secure employment
- Complete an Application For A Social Security Card Form SS-5; and
- Show your original documents (detailed below) proving your:
 - Immigration status;
 - Work eligibility;
 - Age; and
 - Identity.
- Take your completed forms and original documents to the local SSA office.

Immigration status

To prove your immigration status, you must show the Social Security office the current U.S. immigration document, I-94, Arrival/Departure Record, issued to you when you arrived to the United States. If you are an F-1 or M-1 student, you also must show your I-20, Certificate of Eligibility for Nonimmigrant Student Status. If you are a J-1 or J-2 exchange visitor, you must show your DS-2019, Certificate of Eligibility for Exchange Visitor Status.

Work eligibility

For on-campus employment only, you will need to obtain the Social Security Employment Verification Form from the International Admissions and Services office and have it completed by your supervisor. You will need to have this form signed by the Associate Director of Immigration and Services or the Assistant Director of International Admissions and Immigration.

Age

You must present your birth certificate if you have it or can easily obtain it. If not, SSA can consider other documents, such as your passport or document issues by DHS, to prove your age.

Identity

The SSA can only accept certain documents as proof of identity. An acceptable document must be current (not expired) and show your name, identifying information and preferably a recent photograph. Social Security will ask to see your current U.S. immigration documents.

Acceptable immigration documents include your:

- Form I-551 (includes machine-readable immigrant visa with your unexpired foreign passport);
- I-94 with your unexpired foreign passport; or
- Work permit card from DHS (I-766 or I688B).

All documents must be either originals or copies certified by the issuing agency. The Social Security office cannot accept photocopies or notarized copies of documents. They also cannot accept a receipt showing you applied for the document. They may use one document for two purposes. For example, they may use your DHS work permit as proof of both work eligibility and identity. However, you must provide at least two separate documents.

The Social Security office does not require you to have a Social Security number before you start work. However, the Internal Revenue Service requires employers to report wages using a Social Security number. While you wait for your Social Security number, your employer can use a letter from the Social Security office stating that you applied for a number.

Once you receive your Social Security number by mail you must:

- Provide a copy of your Social Security card to the International Admissions and Services office. The International Admissions and Services office will update your information and provide a copy to the Human Resources office.

*The office of Human Resources will not generate a paycheck until your Social Security has been provided.

Identity Theft and Your Social Security Number

Be careful with your Social Security card and number. Show your card to your employer when you start a job so your records are correct. Provide your Social Security number to your financial institution (s) for tax reporting purposes. Keep your card and any other document that shows your Social Security number on it in a safe place. DO NOT routinely carry your card or other documents that display your number. For more information visit

<https://www.socialsecurity.gov/pubs/EN-05-10064.pdf>

For more information and to find copies of any Social Security publications you can visit their website at www.socialsecurity.gov or call toll-free 1-800-772-1213.

Tax Information

Tax Information

Each year, the United States Internal Revenue Service (IRS) requires that all workers file a tax return, which is due on April 15 of the following year. As a nonresident alien, you are also required to file a tax return, which is sometimes called Form 1040NR or Form 1040NR-EZ.

Every nonresident having Ohio-sourced income must file. Examples of Ohio-sourced income include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Wages earned in Ohio;
- Ohio lottery winnings;
- All Ohio casino gaming winnings;
- Income or gain from Ohio property;
- Income or gain from a sole proprietorship doing business in Ohio; and
- Income or gain from a pass-through entity doing business in Ohio.

Filing a Tax Return

If you worked on campus you will receive a W-2 form. The W-2 is a tax document that you will need in order to file a tax return with the United States Internal Revenue Service (IRS). With this document you may be able to get back some of the tax money that you paid to the U.S. government the previous year.

If you are uncertain how to file a return, the Findlay-Hancock County Public Library provides a service to help prepare your documents. The VITA program is a free service for UF students. The service begins on Feb. 1 and runs until April 16. Available hours for this service are Monday-Thursday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Friday and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. You must make an appointment by dialing 211 or calling Toll free 1-800-650-4357. They will accept walk-ins on Saturday only.

When you go to your appointment take all of your immigration documents with you (passport, visa, I-94 card, I-20) as well as your W-2. You might receive a 1042S tax document or a 1098T tax document. If you do receive them, take them as well.

The library is located at 206 Broadway St., in downtown Findlay. The phone number is 419-422-1715.

OPT-CPT Eligibility

Curricular Practical Training

F-1 students must receive authorization before beginning off-campus employment. Curricular Practical Training (CPT) is available to F-1 students who have been lawfully enrolled on a full-time basis for at least one academic year (registered for classes for nine months). CPT must be an integral part of an established curriculum.

Who Qualifies for CPT?

A student must have been registered for classes for nine months, must be in F-1 status, must be enrolled on a full-time basis (before completion of studies) and employment must be an integral part of an established curriculum in the student's course of study. Students in IELP are ineligible for CPT.

Duration of CPT

CPT employment must be renewed every semester/quarter. Any new employment periods must be updated prior to the ending date of the previous employment period. The student must be registered full time for CPT to be approved for the next session. If the student works full time (over 20 hours) more than 365 days (12 months), that student will lose their Optional Practical Training (OPT). The student can work part time (20 hours or less) until completion of studies without losing his/her OPT.

What do you do?

Visit the Internship and Placement Office to begin the paperwork. Once your job has been verified and approved, International Admissions and Services will issue you a new I-20 for work authorization. Remember you cannot start working until you have your new I-20 in hand.

Optional Practical Training

What is OPT?

Post-completion OPT is a benefit for international students who have completed a course of study. Students may work up to 12 months after the completion of a program. Students in certain programs may apply for a 17-month extension to their OPT.

The employment must provide practical training experience in your field of study.

Students are eligible for 12 months of OPT for each level of education they complete. One year for bachelor's, one year for master's and one year for a doctorate.

Who qualifies for OPT?

Students on an F-1 (student) visa who are not "out of status". Students who have been in full-time student status for at least nine months at the University of Findlay and who have completed their program of study.

What do you do?

It is best to anticipate the date you wish to begin OPT by 90 days and apply EARLY! You may apply up to 90 days before you complete your studies.

Visit the International Admissions and Services website under Forms to begin the OPT Application. Once you have prepared and gathered your documents, make an appointment to see the associate director of Immigration and Services to complete your application.

Bank Information

How to Open a Bank Account in the U.S.

As an international student studying in the United States, having a U.S. bank account will make managing your finances significantly easier. With a U.S. bank account, you can deposit your financial aid awards, loans, and stipends—all of which are typically paid by check—as well as money from home.

Why Have a U.S. Bank Account

With a bank account, you can pay all of your bills by check and manage your bill payments online. In addition, many banks issue debit cards with a MasterCard or Visa emblem, which enables you to use the card to make purchases anywhere that accepts credit cards.

Types of Bank Accounts

There are two main types of bank accounts in the U.S. They are:

Checking Accounts

These allow you to frequently deposit and withdraw money. They are a great way to pay your monthly bills. When you open a checking account, it usually comes with a checkbook and a bank card. There are usually minimum monthly balances and service fees, and these vary depending on the type of account you open. Most international students only need a checking account, which they use for managing living expenses while at school

Savings Accounts

These are for long-term deposits for accruing interest. The interests, minimum balances, and service fees will vary from bank to bank. As an international student, you will probably not need a savings account.

How to Choose a Bank

There are many banks around campus. Some options are Huntington Bank, Chase Bank, and Fifth Third Bank.

You will want to compare services and costs of several different banks before choosing one at which to open a bank account. Find out whether the bank offers interest on checking accounts, what the interest rate is for savings accounts, and whether the account offers overdraft protection. You will also want to find out how long it will take to “clear” a check, meaning how long from the time you deposit a check in your account until you are allowed to withdraw the funds. Generally, wired funds are available immediately, but the hold on checks (local, out of state, and foreign) varies by state and by bank, and can be several days to a week or even longer.

How to Open a Bank Account

Although many banks advertise that you can open an account over the phone or online, you should plan to open an account in person. As an international student, you do not fit neatly into any category set by U.S. banks, and it will be easier to deal with any complications in person. In addition, it's always useful to establish a face-to-face relationship if you require additional services. When you go to the bank to open a bank account, you will need to bring:

- Your full name, home address, home telephone number, your campus telephone number, and your college address (letterhead showing the local address – i.e. utility bills or apartment contract)
- Unexpired passport
- I-20, DS-2019 or I-797 approval notice
- Any secondary form of identification (such as: your passport, your Student ID card, birth certificate, state driver's license, or a letter from the International Students and Scholars Office)
- Enrollment verification letter from your school

You will also need the funds you want to deposit and open the account with. Every bank has slightly different requirements, so make sure you ask beforehand so you don't forget something you need.

On- and Off-Campus Housing

At the University of Findlay we have a housing office to assist students in finding a place to stay for either the academic year, for undergraduates, or the full year, for graduate students. However, there are also a few other options for international students looking to find housing before they land in the U.S.

On Campus

While college-owned housing tends to be more expensive than off-campus housing, on-campus housing has several advantages for international students: Essential utilities such as electricity and internet are already set up; maintenance teams are readily available to take care of any repairs; and students will be surrounded by a large community full of students who are also starting college.

If you're considering on-campus housing, you would need to get in touch with the Office of Student Affairs in Old Main 105B. There are many different types of housing styles available for our students. Some of these styles are:

Resident style housing: Eight residence halls are located throughout the main campus.

Apartment-style housing: Popular for upper-class students, apartment style housing at UF offers five unique options. They include the UF Cottages, UF Townhouses, Oiler Pointe (substance-free living), Group Housing, and the newest housing option Derrick's Square.

Any information for on-campus housing can be received from the office of Student Affairs. Sometimes getting an on-campus house for international students can take time. If you are interested in on-campus housing we recommend you act on it as soon as possible. The International Admissions office will guide you if you're unable to do so.

Off Campus

There are a few options available to help assist you in finding off-campus housing:

- The International Admissions and Services offices provides an updated housing list and this can be picked up in the office every semester.
- The International Admissions and Services office has a student housing information board where current students post their information if they need a roommate or a place to live.
- Another indispensable resource for finding off-campus housing is using the website Craigslist. On Craigslist people post city-specific classified advertisements. You can use Craigslist to search for apartments or a room in a house already being leased either for a temporary, short-term lease or for the full year

Things to know before looking for a house.

While looking for off-campus housing, find out how far the place you are considering is from the University and if public transportation is available and accessible. Google provides extensive maps of the U.S. and you can use it to check what transportation options you have to and from UF.

When looking for an apartment, ask friends and fellow students if they know of a good apartment. Sometimes they will know someone who is moving out of a good apartment or may be moving themselves. Such desirable apartments are rarely advertised because they are rented very quickly.

Apartments for rent are often described using cryptic language and abbreviations. You will need to learn to decode apartment listings in order to find a place that meets your needs.

Rental costs depend primarily on the size, condition, and location of the apartment, and whether utilities are included. Larger apartments and apartments which are closer to the school or shopping will cost more.

The first distinguishing characteristic is the size of the apartment. The different sizes are defined as follows:

- Sleeping Room. A sleeping room is a single room, usually furnished, located in a private home, with a shared bedroom and kitchen. This is the least expensive option, but provides little privacy.
- Efficiency. An efficiency is a single room with a private bathroom. The room will include a small alcove that serves as a kitchen and should provide a stove, refrigerator, sink, and cabinet space.
- Studio. A studio is somewhat larger than an efficiency, and has a separate kitchen and eating area.
- One, Two, or Three Bedroom. Regular apartments include a separate kitchen, bathroom, living room and/or dining room, and the number of bedrooms advertised.

The next important consideration is what is included in the rent and what isn't:

- Utilities. If the advertisement says that utilities are included, that usually means electricity, heat/gas, and water/sewage, but not telephone or cable TV. If the advertisement doesn't specify any utilities, assume that you will be responsible for paying for them. Heat will cost you an extra $500 to $1,000 a year and electricity a similar amount. If heat is included, this sometimes means that the landlord controls the temperature, not you. Water and sewage fees are usually paid by the landlord, except if you are renting a house.

- Furnished or Unfurnished. A furnished apartment will include a bed, chest of drawers or dresser, a couch or sofa, and a dining room table and chairs. A furnished apartment will also include a stove and refrigerator. An unfurnished apartment will include a stove and refrigerator but nothing else. A furnished apartment may cost you an extra $50 a month.

Tip: Graduating students often sell their furniture to incoming students. Most apartments are rented unfurnished.

- Parking. If you intend to own a car, an apartment that includes a garage or off-street parking is better than one that doesn't. It is sometimes difficult to find a parking space on the street, especially if many students with cars live nearby.

You should also ask whether there are any laundry facilities. In apartment buildings there is usually a coin operated washer and dryer, but not always.

Common abbreviations include: incl (included), elec (electricity), 1 1/2 baths (one full bathroom and one with just a toilet and sink), a/c (air conditioning), w/w (wall to wall carpeting), h/w (hardwood floors), dw (dishwasher), furn (furnished), cpt (carpeted), gar (garage for a car), yard (includes a backyard), eff (efficiency), immed (available immediately), fp or frplc (includes a wood-burning or gas fireplace). A security building has a locked front door in addition to locks for each apartment.

Leases

A lease is a written contract between the tenant (you) and a landlord which allows you to use a dwelling for a designated period of time in exchange for monthly rent payments. The lease outlines the restrictions on the use of the dwelling and the responsibilities of tenant and landlord. A lease is a legal document and should be read carefully before signing.

The lease should specify at least the following:

- The amount of the monthly rent and when it should be paid. The lease might mention how the rent will increase in subsequent years.
- Whether utilities are included in the rent, and if so which ones. Heat and electricity are the most important.
- The time period covered by the lease, usually one year.
- Restrictions on the number of unrelated people who may occupy the dwelling.
- The amount of the security deposit, which must be paid in addition to the first month's rent when you sign the lease. The security deposit can be as much as twice the monthly rent. If you have a pet, there may be a separate security deposit for the pet if the landlord allows pets. The deposit will be refunded at the end of the lease if the apartment is left in good and clean condition. If not, the landlord will use the security deposit to cover the cost of cleaning and repairing the apartment. Accordingly, if there are any problems with the apartment they should be noted on the lease, so that you will not be held responsible for them when you move out of the apartment.

- Restrictions on pets, children, and noise. Many landlords do not permit pets because of the potential for damage and noise. The lease may also contain a provision prohibiting noise from musical instruments, stereo systems, loud parties, and other sources.
- Landlord responsibilities, such as repairs to heating and plumbing facilities and fire or water damage that wasn't caused by the tenant.
- A clause about terminating the lease. This clause will describe the penalties to the tenant for breaking the lease. Such penalties can range from forfeiting the security deposit to being responsible for the remaining rent.
- A clause about subletting. This clause will either allow or forbid the tenant from subletting the apartment to another person during the term of the lease. It is best to have a lease that permits subletting. If you decide to move to a different apartment before the end of your lease, subletting allows you to rent the apartment to someone else. Otherwise you will be responsible for the rent for the remainder of the lease.
- A clause about eviction proceedings. This clause describes the rights of tenant and landlord should the landlord want to force the tenant out of the property during the term of the lease. The most common reasons for an eviction include failure to pay the rent when due or causing significant damage to the property.

If the lease includes a wear and tear clause, this allows the landlord to charge you for repainting the apartment at the end of the lease.

Read the lease carefully before signing. If you don't understand part of the lease, ask the landlord or a friend to explain it to you. Don't be afraid to cross off provisions with which you disagree just because it is a printed form. Both you and the landlord must initial any changes to the printed lease. If the landlord promises to make certain repairs or there are pre-existing problems with the property, attach a list to the lease and have the landlord sign it. The list should include all problems, including leaking faucets, clogged drains, stains on the walls and rugs, peeling paint, cracks and holes in the walls and ceiling, non-functional kitchen appliances, and anything else you notice.

Most states have laws which do not permit you to sign away your rights, so clauses which have you waive the provisions of specific laws are usually void. Clauses which talk about money, dates when things happen, restrictions on the use of the property, and other clauses mentioned above, however, tend to be binding. If you have any questions about any clause, ask before you sign, not after.

When you pay for the rent and security deposit, get a receipt. Get a separate receipt for the rent and security deposit. It is best to pay the rent by check, and to use a separate check for the security deposit. You will need this at the end of the lease in order to recover your security deposit. To get your security deposit returned when you move out, return the key to the landlord and provide a forwarding address. We recommend sending this by certified mail, return receipt requested, so that you have proof the key and forwarding address were received by the landlord. The landlord then has 30 days to return your deposit or send you a list of the repairs, their actual cost, and any money left in the security deposit.

Moving In

Utilities

If the rent does not include utilities, you will have to get the utilities turned on when you move in. The landlord can provide you with the name and telephone numbers of the gas, electric, and telephone companies that service your apartment. They may be able to schedule service over the phone, or they may require you to visit their offices. If you don't have a good credit history, they may require you to pay a security deposit. The security deposit will be refunded (with interest) after one year if your bills are paid promptly.

The gas and electric companies typically provide two payment options. The first requires you to pay the full amount due each month. The other lets you pay an estimated budget amount each month, with any difference being reconciled at the end of the year. Some people find this more convenient, since gas and electricity bills can otherwise vary considerably during the summer and winter months.

Most utilities have programs that allow you to have the monthly bill automatically deducted from your bank account. You still receive a copy of the bill, but save the cost of a stamp to mail in the payment.

Internet Service

Your school may provide dialup numbers that let you access the campus computer network and the Internet from home using a computer with a modem. Otherwise, the telephone company or any of a large number of Internet Service Providers (ISPs) can provide unlimited internet access at modem speeds for fees of about $20 a month. Internet service allows you to browse the web and to send and receive email. If your friends and family back home have access to email, sending email can be one of the most cost effective methods of communicating.

High speed internet access is available in many major U.S. cities. There are two main methods of providing high speed access, one using the telephone wiring (ADSL) and one using cable television wiring (cable modems). Both provide high bandwidth incoming and somewhat lower bandwidth outgoing by using the wiring's underexploited transmission capacity. The incoming bandwidth is at least twenty times faster than modem speeds. Of the two, ADSL is a bit more secure and will ultimately provide higher bandwidth.

Renter's Insurance

Many students obtain renter's insurance to insure their possessions against fire or theft. The landlord is not responsible for your belongings if they are destroyed in a fire or stolen. Most renter's insurance policies also protect you if someone is injured while in your apartment or if you cause significant damage to the apartment. You can obtain a renter's insurance policy by calling an insurance company listed in the Yellow Pages of the telephone directory. The cost will be between $100 and $300 a year. Ask for replacement value coverage, so that the insurance covers the cost of replacing the item, not just its depreciated value.

Home Safety and Security

If you are renting you may ask your landlord to do the following:

- Install smoke detectors if there are none in your home. If you have gas heat, you may want to request them to buy a carbon monoxide detector as well.
- Change the locks after moving in. You don't know who may have kept a copy of the old keys.
- Install window stops or locks on all the windows, especially if your apartment is located on the first floor.

IELP Faculty and Staff Contact Information

Before visiting a faculty member, please consult the faculty member's course syllabus for information on office hour times and on rules for making appointments. Many faculty members also provide daily schedules and office hour times outside their office doors.

If an appointment is made, students should be polite to the faculty member in two ways. First, students should arrive at the faculty member's office on time. Second, students should arrive prepared to quickly ask questions to gather necessary information.

Test of English as a Foreign Language Information

The Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) is a commercial English test designed and administered by the Educational Testing Service (ETS) in Princeton, New Jersey.

1. ETS offers the internet Based Test (iBT) to international students at test centers by appointment. The iBT is considered a universal test. This means that a student's score may be accepted by any institution of higher education in North America. For complete information on the iBT, students should visit the web site <http://www.toefl.org/>.

For more information about the iBT, please visit Mr. Don Beck in his office at 1114 N. Cory St., Room G. Students may also call Mr. Beck at 419-434-4836 or send e-mail to dbeck@findlay.edu.

Disclaimer: International students should understand that iBT scores over 61 (500 ITP) for undergraduate students and iBT scores over 79/80 (550 ITP) for graduate students do not guarantee academic success at the University of Findlay.

Important Note to ALL IELP Students: IELTS and TOEFL scores must be presented by Friday, January 13th by 9 a.m. in the IELP house (1114 N. Cory St.). Students with conditional admission to the MBA or MS in Environmental Health and Safety Program, who submit scores after this date may be allowed to take one graduate course in the second block concurrently with their IELP courses. This is at the graduate and IELP program director's discretion.

IELP Student Complaint Procedure

It is important for all faculty and staff to work promptly, effectively and fairly with student complaints. A student may use the student complaint policy to voice any complaints, problems or concerns with an IELP policy and/or violation of teaching practices. In addition, if a student believes the integrity of their program, instructor, and/or coursework are at jeopardy; the student can choose to file a written complaint with the director of the IELP, Dr. Laverick. Please visit the administrative assistant, Mrs. Jennifer Kinn, to obtain a copy of the student complaint procedure and form.

Prior to filing the written complaint it is important for the student to take the preliminary measures in order to maintain a respectable level of communication.

Step One:

Students must discuss concerns with the instructor. Visit your instructor after class, during office hours, or email to set up an appointment. Address your concerns directly with the instructor.

Faculty, staff, and students are co-responsible for maintaining communication with each other.

Step Two:

After unsuccessfully resolving a concern with an instructor, please visit your advisor. Visit your advisor during office hours or email to set up an appointment. It is important to explain your situation with your advisor and to discuss earlier measures to resolve the concern.

Step Three:

If the concern is not resolved in step two, please see the director of the program, Dr. Laverick. Visit during Dr. Laverick's office hours or email to make an appointment to address your concerns.

Before contacting Dr. Laverick:

1. Please visit the administrative assistant, Jennifer Kinn, and ask to fill out a formal complaint form.
2. When the formal complaint form is complete, an appointment will be made with Dr. Laverick to discuss the concern and she will review your written complaint prior to the meeting.

Step Four:

After a formal complaint form has been filled out and an appointment has been made with the director, the student will have a meeting with Dr. Laverick. The formal complaint form is a preventative measure to ensure the student has adequately expressed his/her concerns in writing.

The steps listed above are to ensure the proper chain of command is properly communicated with for student concerns. The IELP maintains respect towards all students, faculty, staff, and the objectives and goals of the Intensive English Language Program at all times.

Weather in Ohio

Ohio in general provides a year-round variety of weather, but there are certain regions that may be more comfortable during specific seasons. Generally, the summers are warm and the winters are cold.

Fall (September-December) tends to be the sunniest season of the year throughout the state. September is quite nice, during which time leaves are changing and the weather is mild. In Findlay the average high for this time of year is 63 degrees Fahrenheit with an average low of 44 degrees Fahrenheit.

The winter (December-March) months can be cold and produce large amounts of snow, but there are plenty of activities, such as sledding and snow skiing, to keep you busy during this time of year. The average temperature in January is 33 degrees Fahrenheit and 20 degrees Fahrenheit.

During the spring months (March-June) you will begin to see flowers poking out of the ground and trees will begin to bloom. Spring is a beautiful time of year with an average high of 61 degrees Fahrenheit and a low of 40 degrees Fahrenheit.

During the summer (June-September) the average high temperature is in the middle to high 80's with a low in the middle 60's. Summers in Ohio are filled with parks, cookouts, festivals, parades, swimming, and much more.

Health Insurance

Beginning January 2017 all new students from fall 2016 and spring 2017 will be required to have health insurance coverage. Students must have health insurance before being able to register for classes.

What are my options?

The University of Findlay is working with International Student Protection (ISP) to provide the following policy:

$250 Deductible

$99 per Student per month (Mandatory)

$565 per Dependent per month (Optional)

Coverage periods will need to be paid twice a year:

Fall – August 1st through December 31st

Spring – January 1st through July 31st

Summer – May 1st through July 31st

How do I enroll?

All students will be required to enroll online via the ISP website and remit payment using a debit or credit card. Upon successful completion of the application and payment, a confirmation page will appear on the screen. The student can then instantly access their insurance ID card. The student will also receive a confirmation email with helpful links.

Where do I enroll?

Click on the ONLINE ENROLLMENT button on the insurance page to begin your insurance application. You will need your UF Student IF number from your Admission Letter to apply.

<http://info.visit-aci.com/findlay/>

What if I have other health insurance coverage?

Students will be permitted to waive out of the University insurance plan by demonstrating equal or better coverage. Waivers will be administered by ISP and students will utilize ISP's enrollment/waiver site to submit their waiver.

Students will complete an online questionnaire regarding alternate coverage and will be required to upload their insurance policy and ID card via the ISP waiver site. If the student's response indicates that the alternate plan does not meet the requirements or the student does not upload the required documents, they will not be able to proceed.

ISP will review accompanying documentation of each student's waiver request. ISP will provide the student with confirmation or denial of the waiver request within 5 business days of submission. If denied, the student will be removed from the waiver list so that they will be able to re-enroll.

Where do I waive?

If you are waiving the insurance because you have insurance equal or better, click on the ONLINE WAIVER button. You will need your UF Student ID number from your Admission Letter to waive the insurance.

Can I still enroll in the University of Findlay's Student Health and Accident Insurance Plan?

If you would like to have a supplemental plan you can enroll in the University of Findlay's Student Health and Accident Insurance Plan. If you opt to enroll this will be in addition to the coverage provided through International Student Protection.

The University of Findlay recommends that all students review the Student Health and Accident Insurance Plan coverage and benefits. Students may contact the Business Office with any questions regarding enrollment in this plan.

Facts about Alcohol

- Absorbed through stomach and small intestine lining
- Eating beforehand is helpful to reduce the amount of alcohol absorbed
- About a .02 BAC increase for each drink for a 160 lb. man
- 1 drink per hour is eliminated
- Only time will allow level to come down once in bloodstream

Rules/Legal Issues

- Legal drinking age is 21 or face legal charges
- No alcohol allowed on campus
- Driving a vehicle Blood Alcohol Concentration (BAC) legal limit is .08 or face legal charges

- 1.5 ounces of distilled spirits with 40 percent alcohol content

Binge Drinking

- Occurs after 5 drinks for men and 4 drinks for women in about 2 hours.

Binge drinking is associated with many health problems, including—

- Unintentional injuries (e.g., car crashes, falls, burns, drowning)
- Intentional injuries (e.g., firearm injuries, sexual assault, domestic violence)
- Alcohol poisoning
- Sexually transmitted diseases
- Unintended pregnancy
- Children born with fetal alcohol spectrum disorder
- High blood pressure, stroke, and other cardiovascular diseases
- Liver disease
- Neurological damage
- Sexual dysfunction, and

- Poor control of diabetes.

Alcohol Poisoning

- confusion
- vomiting
- seizures (fits)
- slow breathing (less than eight breaths a minute)
- cold, clammy, pale-bluish skin
- Low body temperature (hypothermia)
- Passing out (unconsciousness) and can't be awakened

What to do if signs of alcohol poisoning are present

- Contact 911 or security x4799
- Don't leave an unconscious person alone.
 - Because alcohol poisoning affects the way your gag reflex works, someone with alcohol poisoning may choke on his or her own vomit and not be able to breathe. While waiting for help, don't try to make the person vomit because he or she could choke.
- Help a person who is vomiting.
 - Try to keep him or her sitting up. If the person must lie down, make sure to turn his or her head to the side — this helps prevent choking. Try to keep the person awake to prevent loss of consciousness.

Alcohol lower risk guidelines

- Never leave a drink unattended or accept an open beverage from anyone.
- Designate a sober driver.
- Eat before you drink and while you are drinking.
- Set a limit and stick to it!
- Avoid chugging alcohol and drinking games.
- Alternate alcoholic beverages with water, and be sure to drink plenty of water to keep your body hydrated.
- Pace yourself. Drink slower and eat in between alcohol drinks. It takes the body 60-90 minutes to fully feel the effects of alcohol on a full stomach.
- Always remain with at least one friend.

It's safest to avoid alcohol altogether if you are:

- Taking medications that interact with alcohol
- Managing a medical condition that can be made worse by drinking
- Underage
- Planning to drive a vehicle or operate machinery
- Pregnant or trying to become pregnant

Culture Shock and Homesickness

You may feel homesick, as do many students, however for international students it is more difficult to deal with. Students from this country may be able to return home for a visit to help alleviate their homesickness. International students are often not able to do this. This means that you may need more support than domestic students. You may need to talk to someone in confidence about how you are feeling. The University of Findlay provides counseling services and they are available to help free of charge. Counseling Services is located at 307 Frazer St. or you can call 419-434-4526.

Ideas to overcome homesickness:

- Don't spend all your time in your room
- Bring items that bring you comfort
- Explore your surroundings
- Stay healthy
 - Eat a healthy diet
 - Sleep regularly
 - Exercise daily
 - Avoid smoking and drinking
 - Drink more water
- Stay in touch with friends and family

Tips to adjust to culture shock:

- Realize culture shock may happen and can last a full semester.
- Give yourself time to adjust to your new life
- Expect things to be different
- Things will improve! Ask for advice when needed.
- Have a sense of humor
- Explore and get to know Americans and the community.

Things Not to Do in the U.S.

1. Do not drive using your country's license. You must be an Ohio licensed driver to operate a vehicle.
2. Do not drive without car insurance. It is illegal to drive any motor vehicle without insurance.
3. Do not work off campus. Working off campus is illegal if you are not either CPT or OPT students.
4. Do not carry your passport as a form of identification, unless you are going out of the country.
5. Do not travel outside the country before getting your I-20 signed. Make sure your I-20 is signed when you are traveling to another country.
6. Do not drop out of college. It is a violation of your agreement. The US government has an electronic system called SEVIS that tracks whether international students are attending college or not. If you want to drop out of college for whatever reason, consult your international student advisor for advice.
