Attendance

Faculty devote much time and energy to preparing and teaching their courses, designing appropriate assignments and examinations, and evaluating students' progress. Excessive absence in a course can seriously threaten a student's academic progress and may result in suspension from the program course. More importantly, however, every absence represents a risk to the student's investment, both financial and intellectual, in a course. Faculty are under no obligation to offer extraordinary assistance to students who are persistently absent.

Email Etiquette

It is expected that all email correspondences to the instructor will be conducted in a professional manner. When utilizing email for this class, students should: (1) include the course name and number in the email subject heading, (2) address the recipient in an appropriate manner, (3) utilize proper spelling, grammar, and punctuation, (4) close with your full name, and (5) name file attachments by including the course name and number, student last name, and assignment/document title.

Minimum Competency:

For the purposes of this class on all exams, quizzes, papers, and projects, etc. a grade of C must be earned to display competency. If a student receives below a C, remediation will be required per the discretion of the instructor until competency is reached but the original grade will be the one used for determining the student's grade for the course. For clinical science courses with a laboratory component, the Clinical Science Course Practical Examinations and Safety Errors policy will also be enforced to ensure minimum competency.

Clinical Science Course Practical Examinations and Safety Errors:

Practical examinations are important means of assessing clinical skills. While it is accepted that a student may occasionally have difficulty on a practical examination, it is important that the student be competent in clinical skills. Students must successfully pass the practical examination in accordance with the minimal passing score of 80%.

Procedure:

- Any student that commits a safety error or scores below 80%, will fail that practical examination. The student may repeat the practical if it is the first or second program practical failed. .
- The student will arrange with the instructor within one week, a plan of remediation and a time to retake the practical.
- The maximum grade earned for a retaken practical examination will be 80%.
 - If the student passes the practical retake, they may proceed in the course, however, the student will have the lab practical failure on record.
 - If during the practical retake a student commits a safety error or fails to obtain an 80% on the retake, they will receive a failing grade for the course, and the policy regarding 'Failure to Meet Minimum Academic Standards' will be followed.
- Faculty teaching clinical courses will monitor the performance of students on practical examinations. If a student fails the exam, the Associate Chair will be notified, so that the number of failed practicals can be tracked throughout the curriculum.
- If a student fails a third practical throughout the curriculum, the student will be dismissed from the

Videotaping

Under certain circumstances and with the expressed written or verbal consent of the course instructor for personal study and review, approval may be granted. Approved video recordings of classroom or laboratory activities shall not be disseminated to in any format to anyone other than the individual who took the video, unless given written or verbal consent of the course instructor.

Late Assignments:

Any student whose assignment is not received by the course instructor prior to the due date and time will have a minimum 10%-point reduction for EACH CALENDAR DAY that the assignment is late. Faculty have the right to create more strict late assignment penalties on a per assignment basis as well. Students who fail to pass the course at a minimum of 70% level may be asked to undergo a formal remediation of the course. The course instructor reserves the right to not offer remediation to any student.

Special Services: If you are a student with a disability, it is your responsibility to inform your instructor and register with the Office of Accommodation and Inclusion (oai@findlay.edu) at least one week prior to a needed service so reasonable accommodations can be made.

Course and Instructor Evaluation: Each student is expected to complete the course and instructor evaluation which is sent electronically to the student by the Office of the Registrar. The electronic notification comes in the form of an e-mail from the UF Registrar's Office with the following subject line: Online survey for the designated course (e.g., BIOL 102).

Last Date of Attendance Policy: A student's last date of attendance is the date he/she was last present in class. If the student attends all classes, the official last date of the class, as determined by the institution, will be used for reporting purposes.
