Welcome to ArchLink!

Greetings, alumni!

Homecoming and Family Weekend 2012 – “So Happy Together” – was definitely the spirit among our alumni, students, parents, faculty and staff. On Friday evening, Oct. 13, immediately following the parade and coronation of the Homecoming king and queen, we played the “Newlywed/Not-So-Newlywed Game.” Our contestants were (Not So) Newlywed Couples: Layne and Stephanie (Brown ’93) Morris – married in 1972, residing in Toledo, Ohio; Chris ’88 and Robin (Palfy ’86) Ridge – married in 1991, residing in McComb, Ohio; Rob ’03 and Rebecca (Foos ’02) Solomon – married in 2005, residing in Millbury, Ohio; and our Newlywed Couple: Brad and Laura (Bardall) Piehl – (current UF students who are both Oiler basketball players) married in August 2012, residing in Findlay, Ohio. These four couples provided great entertainment to the packed Koehler Fitness Complex. It was a tie between the Solomons (pictured to the left) and the Piehls (pictured to the right). A pre-determined tie-breaker gave first place to the Solomons, which included a night’s stay at the Country Inn & Suites, along with a gift certificate for dinner and movie passes.

Mark your calendars for Homecoming/Parent-Family Weekend 2013 – Sept. 27-29! As always, keep us updated on your achievements by filling out the “What’s New with You?” form at www.findlay.edu, KEYWORD: Alumni.

With Oiler Pride!

2. Academic Update

Dr. Kristine Blair, chair and professor of English at Bowling Green State University, will present “Shaky Foundation: Constructing Faculty and Student Professional Identities in Web 2.0 Spaces” from 3:30 – 5 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 14, in the Alumni Memorial Union, North Multipurpose Room, at The University of Findlay. Blair’s presentation is part of the Wilkin Chair series of events this year. Ron Tulley, Ph.D., associate professor of English, is the 2012-13 Richard E. Wilkin Chair for the College of Liberal Arts. Tulley will devote one year of study to the interdisciplinary exploration of a single topic, The Power of Portrayal — The Social Nature of (Re-)Presenting a “Self:” Role Playing, Social Networking and Identity Formation in the Digital Age. For more information, contact Tulley at rtulley@findlay.edu or 419-434-4608, or visit his blog: <http://powerofportrayal.blogspot.com/>

Richard E. White, retired senior vice president of marketing for Marathon Oil Co., will serve as The University of Findlay’s Dana Chair during the spring 2013 semester. Each year, the University chooses a distinguished executive to serve as the Dana Chair, a position funded by the Dana Corporation. The Dana Chair serves as a mentor for a chosen group of Dana Scholars who work as a group for the year. During spring of their junior year, the student Dana Scholars take a class together, work on group projects and visit local industries where they interact with top-level executives. White worked for Marathon from 1955 until 1999. He held positions as manager of retail and wholesale marketing divisions, president of Emro Land Co., and as marketing manager and crude oil sales manager in Europe for four years for Marathon International. White served on the UF Board of Trustees for 16 years, including 10 years as vice chair between 2001 and 2011. He was awarded an honorary doctor of business degree by The University of Findlay in 2006.

Dr. Katie Benson '03 Promotes Healthy Living

Katie M. (Ramsey) Benson, D.C., considers it her mission to teach people the truth about health and healing. “Your body is powerful. You have the ability to heal, to become well again,” she stated.

The owner of the Advanced Spinal Health & Wellness Center in Marysville, Ohio, she visited Winebrenner Theological Seminary on Oct. 18 to conduct a continuing education seminar on “Running My Race,” teaching church leaders to “take control of their well-being so that they can regain the healthy temple that God designed.”

Dr. Katie (Ramsey) Benson

Dr. Benson is among 1 percent of chiropractors in the United States who practices corrective chiropractic care to restore the spine to good alignment and the nervous system to health. She explained that the brain connects to the immune system through the nervous system. The nervous system promotes healing inside the body, but nerve damage causes illness. Her goal is to remove interference or blockages of the nerves so the body can heal and maintain optimum health.

She promotes five steps to better health, which include forgiving yourself and others, maximizing the nerve supply, maximizing nutrition, exercising every day and minimizing exposure to toxins.

A native of Mt. Victory, Ohio, in Hardin County, Benson said she selected The University of Findlay because it was close to home and was a smaller college with small class sizes. Saying she was a “a study worm” who wanted to do well, Benson graduated summa cum laude in 2003 with a degree in biology with life science emphasis. She noted that her undergraduate degree prepared her with a good understanding of anatomy that served her well during her post-graduate studies at the Palmer College of Chiropractic in Port Orange, Fla.

She took additional training with the Maximized Living Health Center after experiencing its benefits herself. She recounted how in her early 20’s while she was in chiropractic school she was overweight, chronically fatigued and depressed. After implementing a healthier lifestyle and restoring her nervous system function, she is healthier now in her 30’s.

She also is one of 250 Maximized Living doctors across the country who work with U.S. wrestling, weightlifting and judo teams during their tournaments. Last summer, Dr. Benson went to the 2012 Olympics in London as part of the Wellness Advisory Council for USA Wrestling and Weightlifting to take care of the U.S. teams. She provided adjustments for the athletes at the training camps during her 10-day stay. She remarked that the wrestling and judo teams earned a total of six medals, making it their best Olympic showing.

After being in practice for more than four years, Dr. Benson’s goal is to reach more people, do more workshops and get more people on track to better health. She presents a different workshop each month either in her office or at churches in the Marysville area on topics such as nutrition, exercise, toxicity, mindset, the nervous system, cancer, diabetes and weight loss. Her website is maximizedlivingdrbenson.com.

She and her husband, Josh, practice the healthy lifestyle she promotes. “We just completely changed the way we approach our health and the way we take care of our bodies,” she said.

“My job is to educate people. God put me here for a purpose,” Dr. Benson stated. “Your health is your most important asset in your life.”

5. Oiler Sports

Women’s Soccer

Senior Emily Beddoes was named the 2012 Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (GLIAC) Offensive Player of the Year on Nov. 2. Beddoes, a first team all-conference pick, tied for the league lead with 14 goals during the season. She also tallied four assists and led the conference in points with 32 on the year. The Toledo, Ohio, native made a living around the net as she finished second in the conference with 41 shots on goal and registered four game-winning scores on the season. In addition, senior Megan Gallaway was tabbed first-team all-conference, while senior Brittany Guglielmi earned honorable mention honors.

Emily Beddoes

Greg Kahlig

Men’s Basketball

The University of Findlay men’s basketball team was picked as the favorite to win the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (GLIAC) South Division as the league office announced their annual preseason poll on Oct. 31. The Oilers, who are currently ranked eighth in the nation and finished last year with a 24-7 record, received 17 first-place votes and a total of 178 votes overall in the poll. Individually, senior guard Aaron Robinson and junior forward Greg Kahlig were each tabbed as preseason first-team, all-conference selections.

Women’s Basketball

The University of Findlay women’s basketball team was picked to finish third in the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (GLIAC) South Division as the league office announced their annual preseason poll on Wednesday, Oct. 31. The Oilers, who finished last season with a 15-12 record, received 121 votes in the poll. In addition, senior forward Kayla Brown was honored as a preseason first-team, all-conference pick.

Kayla Brown

Montrae Williams

Football

Senior running back Montrae Williams and senior quarterback Clay Belton broke records in recent weeks as they led the Oilers to a 6-3 season. Williams is now the all-time leading rusher in school history with 4,354 yards and ranks second all-time in carries (943) and third all-time in touchdowns (46). Belton meanwhile has thrown for 2,185 yards this year, the best single season total in school history.

6. Alumni Support

The University of Findlay Students are Connecting with You!

The University of Findlay 2012-2013 phonathon began in September this year. Phonathons are used to update alumni information and garner support for your alma mater through The Findlay Fund. This year student callers and class representatives are promoting a Battle of the Classes. How will your class stack up? If you wish to support every student, every program, and every faculty member on campus and your class today, visit www.findlay.edu and select “Give to UF” to make your gift to The Findlay Fund.

Student callers will be representing the University through the end of November and again beginning in January. To meet some of our callers and learn more about this program click here. If you have not yet heard from a student, you will! If you have heard from a student, and you responded to their call, we extend a sincere thank you for supporting The Findlay Fund.

Tony Hixon, chief operating officer of Hixon, Zuercher Capital Management and chair of the University Colleagues Advisory Board for 2012-13, encouraged students to have a vision for their lives.

He discussed the legacy of company founder Fred Kremer, whose philosophy was “Leadership is best demonstrated by giving back to others.” Tony Hixon, chair of the University Colleagues Advisory Board, encouraged students to have a vision for their lives, “A clear vision, along with the courage to follow through, dramatically increases your chances of coming to the end of your life, looking back with a deep abiding satisfaction, and thinking, I did it, I succeeded, I finished well. My life counted.” Several students expressed their gratitude for the scholarships, among them Lucas Opperman, a junior law and liberal arts and political science major, who said, “Every time I receive an award, I am no longer just trying to achieve my goals for me alone, but for every one who helped me along the way, to make them proud they supported me.”

Students had an opportunity to meet and thank representatives of the businesses that provided their scholarship funds at the annual Business Affiliates Scholarship Celebration, which was held Oct. 11. Area businesses support scholarships for selected students who are graduates of Hancock County schools or who are currently employed by a Hancock County business. For 2012, 62 local businesses participated, giving $29,390 toward operational scholarships. All money goes to scholarship funds, as The University of Findlay covers all administrative costs. Over the past nine years, 147 students have benefited from the program, which has generated $177,600 in funding. Duane Jebbett, president and CEO of Rowmark LLC, was the guest speaker.

Lucas Opperman, a junior from Findlay, thanked donor businesses, saying he wanted to make them proud of their investment in him.

The 125th Endowed Funds Drive, which is a part of the Give Voice to Your Values campaign, has increased its total to 144 endowed funds with nearly $12.2 million raised toward student scholarships, faculty development and program support. The most recently fully endowed fund is:

Austin E. Knowlton Memorial Scholarship

Established in 2012 through generous support from The Knowlton Foundation, the Austin E. Knowlton Memorial Scholarship Endowment Fund annually supports a UF student who is an Ohio resident. Preference is given to a freshman applicant majoring in mathematics or a related field from Logan County. Austin E. Knowlton founded The Austin E. Knowlton Foundation, Cincinnati, Ohio, and funded it throughout his lifetime. It was Mr. Knowlton's wish that the Foundation would continue to fund a broad range of philanthropic endeavors for the advancement of higher education.
