CLINICAL COORDINATOR AND FACULTY MEMBER OF NUCLEAR MEDICINE TECHNOLOGY

The University of Findlay invites applications for a full-time 12-month faculty appointment to begin August 2018 in the Diagnostic Services Department within the College of Health Professions. This faculty member will aid in the administration, instruction, coordination, documentation and supervision of students in our dynamic Nuclear Medicine Technology (NMT) and Positron Emission Tomography and Computed Tomography Technology (PET/CT) programs. Rank and salary are commensurate with qualifications.

The most qualified candidate will possess a doctoral degree. All eligible candidates must possess certification in nuclear medicine technology and a license (or license eligible) in the state of Ohio. Applicants with a master's or a bachelor's degree plus experience meeting the University's guidelines for professional equivalency to teach at the undergraduate level may be considered. The ideal candidate will be an individual with a passion for the profession, a vision for professional education, experience with accreditation, experience in computed tomography and x-ray procedures, supervising/teaching and a record of professional activity. Strong communication skills and a desire to work with students in a setting that prides itself on providing close relationships between students and faculty are expected. Candidates must be able to travel large distances for off campus site visits.

Founded in 1882, The University provides innovative programs grounded in the liberal arts and sciences to prepare students for meaningful lives and productive careers. The University of Findlay's distinctive and renowned programs include MBA, animal science, equestrian studies, pre-veterinary medicine, nuclear medicine technology, occupational therapy, physical therapy, pharmacy, and physician assistant, as well as environmental, safety and occupational health management. For information on these distinctive programs, visit <https://www.findlay.edu/about-uf/>. The University is committed to the education of diverse students and enrolls students from nearly 40 nations and most US states. The City of Findlay, just south of Toledo and located approximately 1.5 hours from Columbus, Dayton and Detroit, has been designated a "dream town" by Demographics Daily, repeatedly named one of the top 20 micropolitan areas (small towns) in the United States by Site Selection magazine and is the only municipality in Ohio to be selected three times as one of the 100 Best Communities for Young People by America's Promise.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.
