

University of Findlay

Becoming an International Oiler is as easy as 1 ... 2 ... 3 ...

1 Apply online at findlay.edu/apply

Undergraduate Admission

As soon as you're ready, you can start our application. You will need to upload copies of your official and original educational credentials. If your credentials are not in English, you need to provide a certified English translation in addition to the original version. In order to be eligible for admission, you must have at least a 2.0/4.0 cumulative grade point average or the equivalent. For direct admission to your academic program, you must demonstrate proof of English proficiency by one of the following test scores: TOEFL iBT 61, IELTS 6.0, PTE Academic 50, Duolingo 95, or SAT Verbal 540. You may be considered for direct admission if you have graduated from a U.S. high school or completed specific coursework at a U.S. university.

Graduate Admission

Graduate admission to the University of Findlay is decentralized, which means that each graduate program determines its own unique requirements for admission. Review your program's website to learn about your program's specific requirements.

Conditional Admission

The University of Findlay offers a conditional admission for applicants who meet all of the admissions requirements for a program except for their English test scores. Conditional admission will place you in our Intensive English Language Program (IELP), and you can progress to your academic program after successful completion of the IELP. If you want to enroll in the IELP but not continue on to an academic program afterwards, we are happy to consider you for IELP only admission.

2 Learn your admission status

We evaluate applications for admission continually throughout the year, which means you will learn whether you are accepted shortly after you submit your application, upload the required documents, and pay the $75 application fee. You will be automatically considered for academic scholarships based on the application materials you submit. We award undergraduate scholarships up to $25,000/year on your GPA and SAT/ACT and graduate scholarships of $750 each semester.

If you are accepted to the University of Findlay, you will need to upload a copy of your passport and a bank statement showing funding for one year's tuition, fees, housing, and meals.

3 Receive Your I-20

Once you have been admitted, a $500 deposit will be required before an I-20 will be issued. This deposit is non-refundable, but will be credited back to your Findlay student account and will go toward your tuition costs once you are officially enrolled in classes.
